Adacel to Supply Radar Simulators for US Marine Corps Training

Orlando, Florida, September 28, 2016 – Adacel Systems Inc. (Adacel or the Company) is pleased to announce that it has been awarded a contract by the U.S. Naval Air Warfare Center Training Systems Division (NAWCTSD) for the provision of Air Traffic Navigation, Integration, and Coordination System (ATNAVICS) Training Simulators.

The ATNAVICS Training Simulators are stand-alone, portable systems which will be used to provide training to Marine Corps Air Traffic Control detachments. The stand-alone, portable training devices replicate the Air Traffic Control (ATC) functions of the AN/TPN-31 ATNAVICS. The systems will provide individual radar ATC training using speech recognition and/or pseudo-pilot capabilities along with the ability to create, edit and save training scenarios. The systems are to be deployed to ten locations in the United States and overseas. These initial deployments will occur over a twelve month time period. The program also includes three years of system support, operator training and the application of the appropriate DoD Information Assurance Cyber Security protocols.

Adacel's ATC simulators are designed to provide air traffic controllers with realistic hands-on practice that provide proficiency training to assist controllers achieve and maintain their certifications. The compact ATNAVICS simulators are easily transportable for rapid deployment enabling units to train both at home and when deployed to forward locations.
